

Blood For Tears

Written by: Autumn M.

There was a ghost king named Harrick who smelt horrible. He was never friendly and wanted to ruin the whole universe. He stole the Queen's castle and after, he took the crown from the Queen who was not happy. The Kingdom Of Wednesday needed to be saved, the streets were littered with dead corpses and severed hands.

Wednesday and Thing were known to the town as the biggest heroes of all time. She knew that King Harrick wanted to kill everyone. Wednesday rode on her horse through the nearby towns and villages day and night. It was rather uneventful until she ran into a big nasty hairy spider. She was forced to kill it with her red eyes glaring and her bloodied sword. Wednesday took off with her bloody sword on her black horse that had spikes all over and bloodshot eyes that shed blood for tears. Wednesday rode as fast as she could toward her kingdom with her companion who was a red snowman named Spot and Thing. Thing was a severed hand that rode on top of Wednesday's shoulder.

Wednesday arrived at the kingdom at midnight where she was greeted by a pack of wolves. In order to protect herself, Wednesday had to hypnotize them so they would not attack her. After, she went straight to King Harrick and killed him with her sword. Wednesday's mom was furious because of the bloodied sword she was carrying with King Harrick's dead body on it. Wednesday was happy because her mom was crying. She was proud of killing King Harrick who was the ugliest ghost in the world. And even though her mother was so upset, Wednesday won a medal because she saved the Kingdom Of Wednesday.